

Larry Hanks is known as a "folksinger's folksinger". Influenced by Sam Hinton, Lead Belly, and Woody Guthrie, he's been presenting songs in his rough-hewn bass-baritone vocals, tastefully spare guitar accompaniments, and virtuosic Jew's Harp playing, while bringing charm, depth, and a heart full of tenderness to every song he sings. He's has performed and recorded with hundreds of musicians throughout his long career, including: Gordon Bok, Jody Stecher, David Grisman, Mike Seeger, Utah Phillips, Michael Cooney, Geoff Muldaur, Malvina Reynolds, Roger Perkins, Janis Joplin, Fred Holstein, Mike Marker, Deborah Robins, and Kenny Hall, to name a few. Larry Hanks will turn 85 in November.
